

Opening at Vertellus Specialties, Inc.

Job Title: Senior Scientist Job Location: Zeeland, Michigan – Plant Date Posted: 1/13/2011

There is currently an opening in our Zeeland Michigan facility for Senior Scientist in the Chemical Development Group.

Duties and Responsibilities:

New process/product development Project management Troubleshoot existing processes Implement process improvements Develop processes for new products to be introduced into pilot/production plants Manage projects from lab through pilot and/or production activities Troubleshoot existing processes/products to increase efficiency/productivity Develop process improvements to existing chemical processes Develop analytical methodology to support all of the above Preparation of written reports Prepare cost estimates for new product opportunities

Education and Experience: B.S. Chemistry or Chemical Engineering with 10-15 years batch process/production experience, or M.S. or Ph.D.Organic Chemistry with 5-10 years of process/production experience in the fine chemical industry

Project management experience Solid analytical skills including GC and HPLC Ability to work in production environment Solid problem solving skills Ability to work independently Good organizational skills Good written and verbal communication skills

Solid computer skills in technical literature searching, spreadsheet, word processing, project management, etc.

To learn more about Vertellus visit us on our website at www.vertellus.com (see Careers section). We offer a full benefits package to include medical, dental, life, disability, sick pay and 401(k).